

Episode III - SF Women's Film Festival Podcast

Festival founder Scarlett Shepard talks about upcoming SFWFF events and talks to Filmmaker Kari Nevil straight from Sundance.

San Francisco Women's Film Festival –April 10-13, 2008

<http://www.sfwff.com>

EVENTS:

SFWFF is co-sponsoring and participating at this year's thinkBIG on 2/1-2/3 at Stanford University.

thinkBIG is a conference on international women's health and human rights. For more information about the conference visit:

<http://thinkbig.stanford.edu/>

SFWFF is hosting an evening with Film Agent and Author Rima Greer on 2/22 from 7:00-8:00 PM at Variety Screening Room in SF.

See the real Hollywood stripped of its glitz, glamour and bright lights, through the eyes of a film agent. Rima Greer a successful film agent and author of The Real, Low Down, Dirty Truth About Hollywood Agenting opens her phone sheet and reveals how agents, writers, and directors function in a world of producers, development executives, and studio executives. To RSVP email: events@sfwff.com

SFWFF Podcast chats with JuneBug Films founder Kari Nevil @ Sundance

SFWFF executive Director, Scarlett Shepard, catches up with SF Bay area filmmaker Kari Nevil at this year's Sundance Film Festival. Kari shares her favorite documentary films that premiered at Sundance. Kari and Scarlett discuss the future of film distribution.

Podcast Links:

For more information about JuneBug Films visit:

<http://www.junebugfilms.com>

Kids + Money by Lauren Greenfield

<http://www.laurengreenfield.com>

La Corona (The Crown) by Amanda Micheli and Isabel Vega

<http://www.runawayfilms.com>

Caachi Films:

<http://www.caachi.com>

Please send questions, feedback, topic ideas to: info@sfwff.com